

CANAL POINT

Jack Barrett, Andy Milliken and W. H. Redick attended the Shrine ceremonial at Port Lauderdale Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Littman left Saturday on a vacation tour, stopping at Sumter, S. C., and were at Washington, D. C., where Mr. Littman, last heard from them. Their plans called for a stop in Philadelphia and a stay in the Catskill mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, having visited in Tampa, went to Williston, her former home, and from there will go to Jacksonville to visit his mother. Mr. Miller is on vacation from his work in the tractor maintenance department of the sugar company.

Of local interest is the official report that Young Strickling got $33,168.24 as his net share of the proceeds of the fight at Cleveland and Schmelzing got $106,158.28. The paid attendance was 20,859 and the government took $75,704.50 amusement tax.

Dr. H. W. Schreiner, sales manager for the Kluge Seed Company, stopped in Canal Point last week on his way to Pahokee and Belle Glade, where the company has branches. He had just returned from the Bahamas Islands, including Nassau, where there is a Kluge store. He reported here the statement he had made at Pompano and quoted in this paper last week. He stated that there will be a reduction in the pepper acreage in Cuba but the tomato acreage will be as large as ever. On the other hand, he said, the Olaf Bos and L. C. Koffer went to Moore Haven Wednesday to see about buying boatway equipment to be installed on the lake front of the new garage on Pahokee road.

CALLERS

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Beaulieu of West Palm Beach drove through the upper Glades the latter part of last week. He had been out of the state for a few weeks and came out to the Glades to reacquaint himself with conditions. The information he got by inquiry and observation led him to believe that this region is the most prosperous part of the state.

E. O. Kinnier, district freight agent of the Seaboard Air Line Railroad, with headquarters at West Palm Beach, and George Woodward, the commercial agent, also called.

COMMUNITY GOSSIP

French hair-dressers are no great shakes, despite their pretensions and their reputation. While Mrs. J. O. Mansfield of Canal Point was in France with a party of touring "gold star mothers" she concluded her hair was a bit long, she had it trimmed. The white mist was so dense, she couldn't see how to drive, so had to travel very slowly.

The first big town comes to be leaving the desert, is San Bernardino, California, which is a very beautiful town. Perhaps much more beautiful because of the fact we had been traveling through the desert so long. The orange trees and other tall trees were beautiful, and all the landscape seemed to be specially prepared to receive expectant visitors.

There are towns all the way from San Bernardino to Los Angeles, and we were disappointed several times when we would reach a town to find that it was not Los Angeles.

Finally arrived in Los Angeles, we found it to be a very big city and like most big cities, no one knows anything, and we couldn't find a tourist camp any place within two hours. Everybody told us something different, until finally we stumbled right up on the Lincoln Park tourist camp. There are 1,500,000 people supposed to be here.

Boe and I immediately took a spin down town, and promptly got lost. We finally found the University of Southern California, where I am to take a summer course. All I looked all over that vicinity for a cottage, but as yet no luck.

An "all-star" barbecue is to be held at Lincoln Park next Sunday, and of course we'll be there with the rest of the "stars" and hope to get some good snapshots of all the "hot-shots".

David is looking for a fishing place, and finds he will have to go about 90 miles out of town.

Filling stations, refreshment stands and garages will all be in the division of traffic. Motorists making round trips may make it a practice to go on one route and return on the other, but the opening of a better road on a shorter route is certain to cause the diversion of traffic on Conners highway.

WHAT PEOPLE SAY

Representative Tomacello was at Okeechobee during the legislative recess he said he observed big cuts would be made in the pay of state officials and some of the officials as a means of relieving the tax burden. He estimated the possible savings as $3,000,000.

C. V. Rahn of Clewiston: "I lost another day in West Palm Beach yesterday. A man walked off with it although it wasn't a good hat. But I'm not going to lose any more hats. I'm going to hold my hat in my lap while I eat. That way I can keep my hat and I can catch the grass and keep it from falling on my pants."

John V. Thomas of Pahokee: "A man is a darn fool for going to the mountains. It's hotter there than it is here. Next summer if I go away I'm going to rent a cottage on the waterfront at Miami Beach or Sarasota and stay in it instead of driving a merry-go-round in a car and not getting anywhere."

BURIED AT OKEECHOBEE

The funeral of E. VerVeken, 63, was held at Okeechobee, conducted by Rev. J. P. DeGroot, and interment was made in the cemetery there.

WHIDDESS BUY CAFE

The Smith Cafe in Moore Haven, formerly operated by Mrs. H. E. Tindall, has been taken over by Mrs. J. O. Whidless who will operate it while Mr. Whidless continues his farm at Palmdale.

ture, which reminded us of that Florida past they used to claim we had.

All the way from Barstow we traveled down hill, until we reached the western edge of the desert. There we started over a range of mountains, and went through a cloud which was hanging very low. The white mist was so dense, she couldn't see how to drive, so had to travel very slowly.

IS BANK TO REOPEN WITHOUT ANY CASH?

The Bank of Canal Point, which Comptroller Ernest Amos has authorized to resume business, had no cash June 30, 1931, the liquidator's report showing a capital of $25,000 and a surplus of $25,000. The bank was authorized to resume business, had no cash June 30, 1931, the liquidator's report showing a capital of $25,000 and a surplus of $25,000.

With $25,000 capital and surplus of $25,000, the bank owes individual depositors $27,627.72. If the double liability provision of the law was invoked and the proceeds applied, the larger part of the individual deposits could be paid at once.

However, B. G. Dahlberg's corporations have a claim on $20,000 of the demand and time certificates of deposit which were claimed to come ahead of the other depositors.

Only $30 had been collected on the assessment on the stockholders. The one stockholder who paid is understood to be W. H. Vann. The liquidator's report is printed in another column.

McCREADY THANKS GLADES GROWERS

Postmaster, The Everglades News: We want to take this opportunity of thanking you for the service you have given us with the coming of the fall season we hope to be able to renew our advertising with you and we have enjoyed reading your paper for the past several months.

Mr. Sharp, we have enjoyed a very fine business with the Florida shippers and we have no doubt that a good share of this business came to us through the ad which we had continued in your paper for a good many months.

We are glad to tell you that we have had nine fine letters from your shippers expressing their thanks for the way we have handled the business they have given us.

Yours very truly,
